Young reader wins big at Bibliopoly, donates to Catholic Charities

At the end of last year, almost 30 people had submitted entries into the Bibliopoly drawing. But this wasn't as simple as filling out your name- contestants had to read at least 10 books matching various genres and formats to complete a "Bibliopoly" board- the library's unique take on the Monopoly game...

YOUNG READER WINS BIG AT BIBLIOPOLY

Written by Kia Boyd

that combined reading with collecting $200.

The entrant that won the drawing, a nine year old named Brendan, read great books like Captain Nobody, the I Survived series, and Long Shadows. He then won $200; $100 for himself, and $100 for a charity of his choice.

Brendan decided to help Catholic Charities, a non profit whose local branch delivers food and other necessities to those in need, but more importantly offers assistance with bills, utilities, applications, and benefits. If you would like to join Brendan in donating, click the donate button below, and make sure you designate your gift for Atchison, KS to keep the assistance local.

Thank you so much to everyone who participated in Bibliopoly. We hope to have many more long-term programming like Bibliopoly, and if you have any comments or suggestions on this type of programming, email askus@atchisonlibrary.org!
